The music was light and gay, and his hands seemed to draw beauty from the radiant source of the song. . . .

And then with a discord that shook the air the song was ended and all was still.

From far away, softly and silently the mournful melody began. It rose, but even the sadness of the occasion could not shadow the greatness of the love that he gave us in song.

Even now, the song is not ended, for it is all songs, sung from every heart, an undying tribute to him.

1949 . . . Just one hundred years ago men started their westward march in search of gold.

Some dug gold from the stubborn earth, and others went on to find an even richer store of wealth in the opportunities that lay around them.

This book is a milestone of one year in that search for the gold of achievement.

Through these years, each of us, in his own way, has found his place. . . . As a class we have golden memories of the work and fun we've had together . . . dances, proms, basketball games, football games, assemblies . . . and our music!

EUGENE HIGH SCHOOL . . . 1903.

No, Eugene High School has not always been in the brick building on the corner of 17th & Charnelton Streets! It started its journey in the old Central Building on 11th and Olive Streets in 1897. After holding classes in various downtown buildings, the student body moved into the building which is now the City Hall, in 1903. This was to be the home of EHS until the student body, numbering six hundred, became too large for walls of the old building.

The class of 1916 proudly moved into our present building, where the student body has been at home for about thirty-three years.

However, the Gypsy blood is beginning to surge again, with twelve hundred students crowding our halls and class rooms. We hope to be on our way by '51 to our new location.

"Have you studied for that exam in English? It sure is tough. That 5th question—" "No kidding? I thought she was going with Bill."

This is our student council, a very active organization in every sense of the word. Any group that can do such a good job transacting student body affairs and at the same time discuss everything from physics to the latest fads is indeed outstanding.

The council is composed of representatives from each home room plus various important elected and appointed officers from around the school. The meetings are held every two weeks with special meetings for important and pertinent issues, which usually turn out to be the weather or Saturday night.

A good part of the business responsibilities of the council is taken care of by committees, roped and corraled by the president. These committees gather all necessary information and make recommendations to the council. After discussing the proposals of the committee the council always ends up voting unanimously "yes." At times it seems possible that one could propose that all council members be guillotined, and the ayes would automatically echo throughout the room.

But, the students of Eugene High can be assured that the council is a democratic organization and works for the welfare and interest of every student.

Student council "caught in the act."

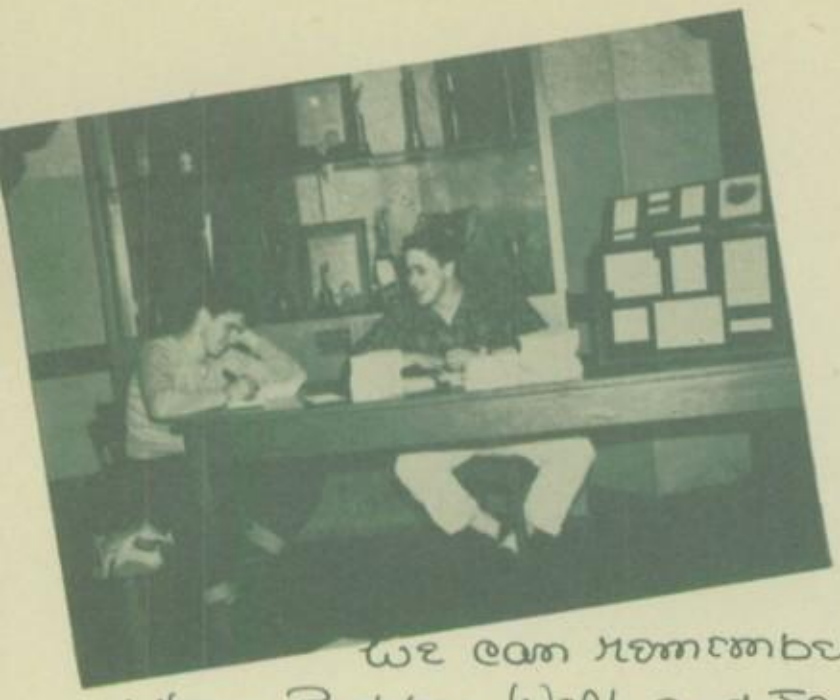
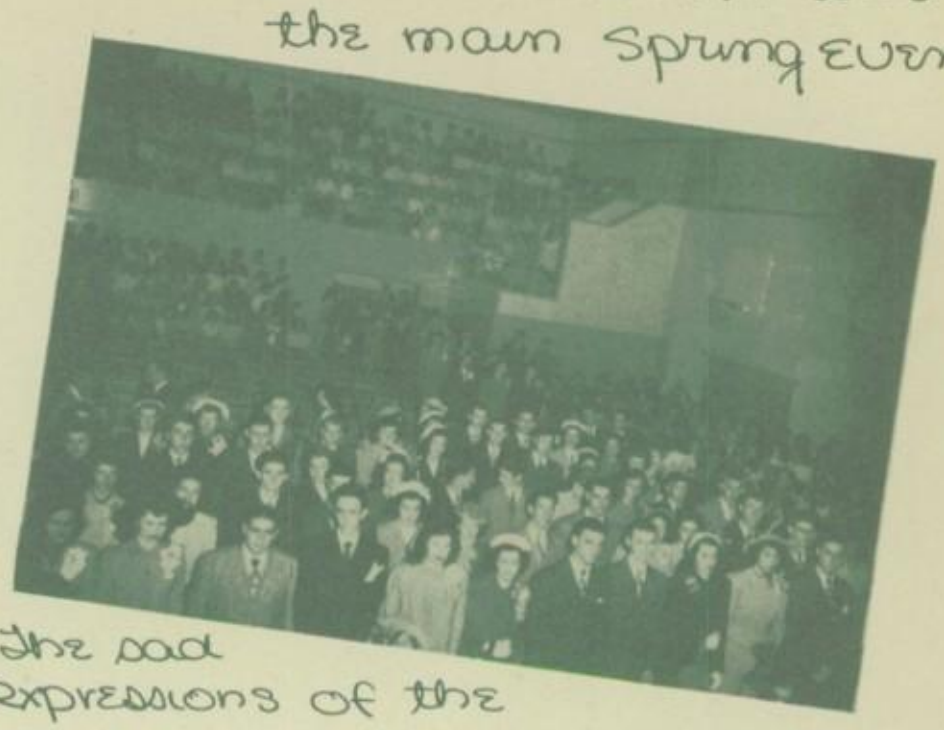
IT TAKES PULL TO GET THRU

Dear Diary—

Graduation in 1948 was the main spring event



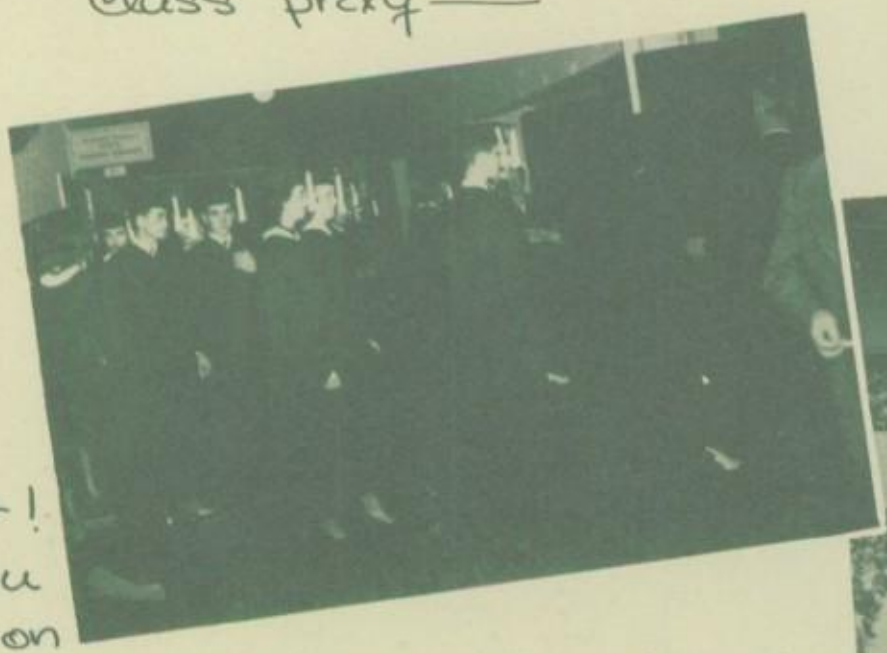
We can remember when Bobby Wolf and Jack Smith were in the hall distributing the announcements—



The sad expressions of the seniors made us realize that it was the last assembly for the class of '48—

The spoon carries all the different colored ribbons for each graduating class— Cece Daniels gave it to Howard Myers, Junior class prexy—

Then— you rushed over to the Osborn Hotel after the assembly— cigars— speakers— flowers— The building seemed so big and lonely—We knew then how much we missed you—



Thus was it! You had on your caps and gowns— those funny little tassels kept hitting you in the eye— your minds whirled back over the past three years—

— what fun you'd had— fun and work and heartaches— But now a bright new future is ahead

The musical assembly given by the Ambassadors featured the Salem Academy choir, complete with green bow ties!

The orchestra beats out real rythm for the audience, the Paletteers backstage, and the whole back row of teachers!

DRAGON KINGDOM

On the evening of March 25th the Paletteers presented their annual Beaux Arts Ball, "Dragon Kingdom."

The court, five thrilled girls in white formals, and many happy couples danced to the music of Hal Hardin and his orchestra. Following Mette's coronation, Eunice Miller and Dick Paris, EHS graduate, entertained. And then—the Queen's waltz!

The chairman, Myrna Carroll, and her committee, Joan Gustafson, Sylvia Jones, Christine White, Beverly Kragh, Julia Lundy, Grace Jackson, Dolores Clark, Joan Martin, and Bill Hoey, worked with every Paletteer member to make "Dragon Kingdom" one of the most elegant and festive dances of the year!

Girls' League

Beverly Washburn,
Vice-president

Arlene Hendricks, President

Lorna Edwards, Treasurer

Jean Crakes, Secretary

As we look back over the days of '49 we find gold in the Girls' League . . . from the tip of the president's head down to the heart of each girl. Pioneering, in the good 'ole '49er style, we did lots of new and different things.

GADABOUTS:

Our traditional events . . . Hallowe'en party, with cider, doughnuts, apples, and each girl entertaining a small child, either a friend or someone from the Alice Marie Children's home; Valentine party, featuring square dancing; May Day party, a traditional affair for ninth grade girls; and a Coke dance during the tournament, at which they also "manned" a guest book; all had a spark of something special . . . and they were loads of fun!

CALENDAR GIRLS:

Every month a secret committee selects the girl of the month. This girl is chosen on the basis of all around service. The girl receives a gold Girls' League pin, decorated with a diamond and two rubies, to wear for the month. The winners for the past year have been: October, Carolyn Silva for her work on the Girls' League teas and as hostess for the Girls' League; November, The Rally Squad: Barbara Fulton, Eunice Miller, Lois Taylor, Dolores Clark, Margaret Jarvis, Jackie Lewis, and Arlene Jones, for their work during the summer working up the yells for football and basketball games; December, Dolores Goddard for her work as prexy of Pep Club and one of the leading characters in the Thespian play "This Genius Business"; January, Madelle Peoples, cabinet member of the Girls League in charge of sacking candy for the Vets Memorial Hospital at Roseburg; February, Mary Cochrane as Editor of the 1949 Eugenean; March, Myrna Carroll, co-chairman of Twirp Week and work on the Beaux Arts Ball; and April, Jo Anne Davis, Feature Editor of the Eugenean, Beaux Arts Ball Princess, and co-chairman of the Twirp Week Assembly.

First Semester Cabinet:

Row 1: D. Hayes, M. Baker, J. Riggs, N. Morgan, A. Gentle, A. Hendricks, D. Howard, A. Bailey.
Row 2: M. Bond, C. Silva, M. Burrell, M. Peoples, M. Olson, B. Washburn, J. Crakes.

Second Semester Cabinet:

Row 1: A. Hendricks, J. Lundy, B. Washburn, J. Crakes, Y. Reed, G. Haines, L. Dirimple, M. Nelson, J. Pallett, J. Gustafson, J. Anderson.
Row 2: L. Edwards, B. Leonard, M. Olson, J. Fischer, D. Hayes.

MINOR DOINGS:

Regularly a group of girls got together to sack candy for the vets . . . at the Roseburg Veterans Hospital. The girls also assisted the Community Chest and Red Cross drives. They annually present a Girls' League Scholarship, amounting to $75, to the most deserving senior girl. They also act as usherettes at the assemblies.

HEARTS DESIRE:

Every year the Girls' League sponsors a Queen of Hearts drive to raise money for support of a children's school in Belgium. This year's candidates were Mette Brix-Kjelgaard, senior; Anita Hamilton, junior; and Bebe Clark, sophomore. A prize of $25 was offered to the winning class, and there was a lot of rivalry among classes. The sophs came out on top! We'll always remember the assembly when Bebe, overtowered by Dean Parsons, sophomore class prexy, handed over the check.

CALICO LASS:

Print and Cord Week, April 25-29, was one of the most outstanding weeks of the year. It officially announces the coming of spring, and the girls and fellas are gay and colorful in cotton dresses and shirts. A dance tops off the week, and the Gingham Girl is announced.

AXEMEN'S

The entire masculine population of Eugene High School makes up the membership of the Axemen's Council. The governing body is composed of the cabinet, representatives, and senators. The cabinet is President Burt Carlson, Vice-president Jerry Wilson, Secretary-treasurer Bill Lockyear, Program Chairman Bob Haynes, Special Weeks Chairman Bob Eade, and Noon Entertainment Chairman Bob Booth. One boy is chosen from each roll room as a representative to the council. The senators are presidents of clubs with more than sixty per cent boy membership.

Hello-week started the school year off with a bang. A few weeks later the student directory, Axe-Handles, was published under the direction of Jerry Wilson. Throughout the year assemblies were put on for the boys.

Council in action

COUNCIL

One of the outstanding assemblies featured University of Oregon coach Jim Aiken and the motion picture, "Oregon Football Highlights." Fun nights were held providing entertainment for fathers and sons. Along in March, "Be-Up-Clean-Up-Week" was presented with a general clean-up of lockers and class rooms.

The week ended with a big dance Friday night. The noon entertainment committee provided noon dances and noon movies, alternating with intramural basketball, to complete the week's activities.

Mr. Paul F. Potter, dean of boys, is advisor to the council.

From the middle of the summer months to the date of delivery, the annual staff was in a whirlwind of plans. The summer meetings, held at the home of Mrs. Beacon, were a combination of annual talk, plans for school wardrobes, and eating.

When school began, work began. Ads were being solicited, subscription lists compiled, and pictures taken. Everyone remembers those days when the halls echoed with bells. At the sound of a particular bell, the teacher announced, "One long, one short, that's the French Club." Immediately, half of the class jumped from their seats and darted out of the door. At last—an opportunity to get a drink!

Then, the big job of seeing to it that individual pictures were taken as cheduled. Every known excuse occurred to John Jones or Susie Smith why their pictures couldn't be taken at 3:30 on Friday.

Of course the big job was mounting the pages. The hard-working editor and a few loyal supporters worked many nights after school enjoying (?) the time of their lives playing with the gooey rubber cement. "Mary, will this picture have to be reduced or can we cut it down ourselves?" was the familiar call.

While compiling copy, many hours were lost trying to solve the newest invention around school. Namely, the tri-hexaflexagon.

At last the delivery date came. This started the fuss of seeing to it that everyone got his annual.

E H S News Staff

Remember those Fridays when the issues of the E.H.S. News came out? The halls were filled with echoes of, "I'd give you a paper—but you're not on my beat!" Suddenly in the sixth period rooms the conversation changed from the composition of water or the life of Hamlet to, "Look—Miller and Allison are boys of the week!" or, "Did you read the jokes on page six?"

When it came to being interviewed there were those usual questions: "What's your ambition, your favorite pastime, etc.?" Probably the answer in the back of your mind was, "Maybe I'll get a better grade from Miss West if I say something about trying to get my Spanish in on time!"

In the staff meetings, there were the usual battles about copy and choice of personalities. After school, there was the hurry-scurry of covering the assigned ad beats.

Finally after two weeks of gathering and editing of the latest this-and-that around school, the paper came out. The editor and adviser breathed sighs of relief. The entire hard working staff, then relieved of their headaches, sat back and settled down—to two more weeks of the same process.

A roll on the drums, someone speaks, and the Music and Arts Section enters. Oop's, do I hear someone off key?

In the top picture, Eunice, Jackie and Barbara are giving out with "In a Little Red School House" during the Swing Concert. Next we have the A Cappella hard at work in the Colin Kelly gym during the Band Booster Dance. Ah ha! We see the band caught in the act of preparing to perform—with new pants, no less! Then the band gives its undivided attention to Mr. Miller, and the A Cappella sings before its fellow students.

MUSIC and ARTS

A Cappella sings at Open House.

Initiation!!

A Cappella

Throughout the year, during every fifth period, explosions from the chemistry lab kept time and blended harmoniously with mysterious utterances from the room next door. The utterances were produced by a jolly group of musicians, the A Cappella Choir. To tell the truth, the noises were not always melodious but must be classified as pure disturbance. But, these disturbances were offset by the more controlled sessions of the choir when the result of their effort was more pleasing and even wonderful. The choir were composers, one and all. Right in the middle of a song they would recompose the music, the result being melody a la choir, according to Mr. Harrison.

During the year the choir sang at Junction City, Roosevelt, Kelly, Osburn Hotel, and produced the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, H.M.S. Pinafore. The choir met with consistent success at all their public appearances which was due reward for their hard work.

"Mi-mi-mi, do-do-do—!" "The meeting will please come to order." "Hey! Somebody quit banging on that piano!"

If you happened to eavesdrop in Room 305 every other Monday evening throughout the year these sounds would probably be familiar to you. Occasionally a member would volunteer to have a meeting at his home. These meetings were usually potlucks with the accent on eating.

Dont let us fool you, Troubadours was more than confusion and eating. Some members, while shaking in their shoes, provided entertainment at each meeting. The others, with Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, remarked on little faults such as too much breath . . . or not enough. However, they seemed to overlook the performers who fell off piano benches or twisted Sunday lace hankies to threads when they became a little excited.

Most of the members belonged to other musical groups around school and some of them entered the music contests. Those contests were the achievements of their fondest dreams. There was always that hope of getting a "one" rating! In the music world that is superior, and only excellent students received such ratings.

Tramping around on a cold and drafty stage three nights a week, wondering if anyone would come to the performance, trying to borrow clothes to portray the character; these are the experiences of the gallant band of National Thespians as they produced "This Genius Business."

"Get a little life in your action. Pick up your cues. Haven't you learned your lines yet?" These were familiar words from the director and advisor, Miss Hettinger.

The three act play made a two night stand in the EHS gym. After the final curtain went down and everyone got the grease paint scraped out of his hair, the actors sighed "Never again," and then, "When do we do another?" All those participating in the production are now veteran actors, just ask them. They will tell you!

Election to membership requires that a Thespian must have spent at least a semester in drama class. Monthly meetings were held in a member's home where everyone displayed his dramatic talents.

When little brother begins decorating the walls of the house with beautiful pastoral scenes done in water-color and crayon, you know that he will probably be a member of the famous Paletteers sometime in the near future.

This year, these fifty-eight industrious individuals dipped fifty-eight slim paint brushes into paint and created fifty-eight grotesque versions of what they had seen.

Perhaps you were walking calmly down the halls with a pleasantly vacant feeling, when suddenly one of the posters made by the club confronted you. After five minutes of concentrated study, the theme and meaning became apparent. Ten feet farther down the hall you came upon another . . . then another . . . and so on. Therefore, it can be said the Paletteers Club impede the traffic of Eugene High School.

Seriously, the club contains some of the most outstanding students of E.H.S. and is the sponsor of many activities.

Sylvia Jones, as president, and Mr. Mallery, as adviser, have made the 1948-49 Paletteer year successful and interesting for the members.

Girls' Glee

Miss Schaer, the new Girls' Glee instructor this year, has done a very commendable job in coordinating the vocal cord activities of these girls and producing recognizable melodies.

Boys' Glee

Every sound known to mankind could be heard at Eugene High sixth period, room 305. Occasionally the sound of singing prevailed, and well-known rousing songs drifted through the halls.

Orchestra

If you've memorized the music scale from C to D you're eligible for membership in the orchestra. Actually, to be a member in good standing you should try to master the intricacies of a violin, or at least bring Mr. Miller a big shining apple each day. You should be able to distinguish between fiddling with your ear and fiddling with a violin. During the year the orchestra honored many groups with their quite audible presence. Cottage Grove, Seaside, Nelscott, and other neighboring towns were the lucky hosts to the wandering musicians.

Students of the first period Spanish class fill a Santa Claus with candy, fruit, gum and nuts for their pinata, or Christmas party to you. Hard on waistlines, but more fun!

A typical scene in 202, Miss Gibson's English 12 class. Looks like they're working awfully hard!

Food again, this time it looks like the punch and cake they had at the French Club initiation at the home of Jane Van Rysselberghe.

Every year at Latin Club initiation the initiates are required to give reports. Diane Howard's must really be funny. Initiation this year was at Carolyn Silva's.

LANGUAGES

Spanish Club

Row 1: T. Atkinson, A. Bailey, N. Beckett. Row 2: B. Bureker, J. Chase, N. Chase, S. Couch. Row 3: J. Davis, M. Dunsmoor, S. George, B. Gilmore, M. Gindt, J. Gustafson. Row 4: D. Gustafson, V. Webb, Miss West. President, Dolores Gustafson.

Habla usted el espanol? Sounds hard, but we've really had loads of fun speaking Spanish at our parties and other things. To start the year off, there was a very informal initiation potluck. The entertainment (??) was provided by the initiates. Later in the winter, we had another potluck. This time colored movies of Rio were shown, and Carolyn Silva told us all about her trip to South America. On April 13, Springfield, St. Mary's and Uni High were invited to come to our annual banquet. The speaker, Carlos Pesado, spoke mostly in Spanish.

Carolyn Silva was chairman of the club's assembly which was given in April to celebrate Pan American Day. Bullfights, Spanish music and dances brought the assembly to a swell round of activities for the year.

Latin Club

Row 1: P. Barkla, B. Beacon, M. Burrell, D. Casey. Row 2: M. Cochrane, N. Davis, J. Evans, L. Finley, A. Gudbrud, B. Hamilton. Row 3: B. Hamilton, B. Harnden, A. Hendricks, D. Howard, M. E. Kraal, J. Madigan. Row 4: M. Nuttman, N. O'Connor, B. Perky, C. Silva, M. Smith, K. Terry, M. Williams. President, Jackie Madigan.

The shining faces at the left are those of brave and fearless boys and girls who battled their way through conjugations, declensions, and Caesar. But it was well worth while when they joined the Latin Club and went to the parties. Contrary to belief, the parties were really informal. Malicious members went so far as to make the defenseless initiate stand before a blazing fireplace as he presented his initiation speech. Cries of "Don't throw my notes in the fire," or "Help, I'm scorching!" were heard as the room became brighter and brighter from the dancing firelight and a broader understanding of Latin.

The Latin Club members will remember their first sip of "The Nectar of the Gods", Christmas caroling, and the hustle and bustle of preparing the annual March of Ides banquet.

French Club

Row 1: M. Baker, B. Beacon. Row 2: J. Bleth, M. Brix-Kjelgaard, C. Guiley. Row 3: C. Leonard, M. McKy, I. Means, N. O'Connor, E. Olson. Row 4: D. Smeed, J. Van Rysselberghe, P. Wasson, D. Wick, N. Yates, Miss Nelson. President, Pat Wasson.

"Parlez-vous francais?" Just about everyone recognizes this familiar phrase as "Do you speak French?"

Just because you are a member of the French Club doesnt mean you are of that nationality; you simply must have taken, or be taking, French.

A semi-formal initiation was held at the beginning of the school year. It was a candle-lighting ceremony and the honored guest was Miss Blais, our former E. H. S. French teacher. The lighter part of the evening consisted of the new initiates describing themselves in French. One of the more common mistakes was having "a head of brown horses" instead of "a head of brown hair." Mix-ups like these resulted when they got the wrong pronunciation of "cheveaux."

Most of the meetings were held at school. However, there were a few evening parties. Evidently some of the members were determined to be soda jerks, as one evening was spent concocting chocolate sodas. They seemed to have known what they were doing, as they were so good they had to buy more ingredients for them.

Later in the year a reception was held to honor the newer initiates of the Club.

"Only ten more push-ups and you'll be through," those are the promises heard in all the gym classes. The picture at the right shows some of the boys getting an extra work-out at the bar.

Along with all the fun of the clubs there comes the day of the initiation for the new members. Some of the Pep Club initiates are being introduced to the mop. This year "G.A.A." did things in a big way and kept the initiates well occupied.

At some of the games it was questionable whether the members of the Pep Club came to yell, or for a good seat. However, the Pep Club can yell as the picture at the bottom of the page proves.

Pep Club

Fellows: Sit down! You're messing up the game.

P. C. Girls: Oh, you never yell. Yon don't have any spirit!

Fellows: Yes we do, uh-er-hurray!

A new high was reached in school spirit this year and we proved that Eugene High really had a booming rooting section.

Pep Club members are required to sit in a yell section at every week-end football and basketball game. And, according to tradition, the seniors occupy the place of honor in the front row (sophomores move to the rear of the section, please!) Ten girls and ten boys from each class belonged to Pep Club when it was first organized in 1935 but someone revised the old system and eliminated the boys??? Now one hundred sophomore, junior and senior girls are Pep Club members.

Back in the days when Pep Club was just starting the girls wore white cardigan sweaters with fetching little sailor collars and black ties. Now they wear white Columbia knit sweaters, black skirts, and purple "E.H.S." emblems. Initiations are not really tough, just a little hard on the initiates and they are lots of fun, (death toll this year was only about twelve).

Every year the Pep Club gives two banquets which honor our mighty Axemen and the chosen player of the evening. The seniors sponsor the football banquet and the juniors sponsor the basketball banquet. The making of pompoms was enjoyed by everybody this year, especially Mr. Mickelwait. Reams of purple and white crepe paper were strung all over the office and everybody dashed madly around trying to get them finished before the bus pulled out. But it was worth it!

"E" Club

"E" Club, "E" Club, those familiar cries were always present when foul play was in the making. Everyone who has ever rushed to an assembly for the best seat or tried to crowd into the cafeteria line, has found an "E" Clubber inconveniently situated. Many an idea of contrivance and negotiation has been thwarted in the making.

Violators clashed with justice each Wednesday noon when they were brought before the club. Any boy facing President Bill Hall for the second time, always found a senior member eager to administer routine punishment.

Any fellow who has earned the big "E" on the turf, maple, cinders, or diamond is eligible to join the "E" Club. An initiation was held in February for the new peace officers with Captain Dick Primrose in charge of the ceremonies. Strange as it seems the "E" Club did things other than policing the halls. An assembly was presented to the school, and Vice-President Joel Kooken carried on the intramural basketball program for all the sports loving boys in school.

G. A. A.

McWilliams, J. Meadows. Row 5: N. Mickelson, G. Miles, P. Miller, C. Moll, G. Napper, L. Nixon, N. O'Connor, M. Olson, M. Peoples. Row 6: B. Prickett, C. Prickett, D. Renshaw, K. Rice, K. Sealy, K. Terry, G. Titcomb, D. Walker, P. Washburn, J. Wiper, J. Yates. President, Marjorie Olson.

All girls actively interested in sports are eligible to join "G.A.A.", especially if they like to attend potluck dinners which are held once a month. (Hard on the digestive system but really lots of fun.)

The main sports activities carried on under the supervision of adviser, Miss DeVos, are: volleyball, basketball, tennis, badminton, and softball. During the softball season many girls were surprised by the ease in which the ball slipped through a "hole" in their bat.

The "G.A.A." is affiliated with the Oregon State Girls Athletic Association and every year it carries out intra-school games with other nearby high schools.

On any Tuesday or Friday, you can find the "G.A.A." girls in the gym vigorously practicing or playing some tournament game while Kuch's basketball boys hopefully tried to get in some practice. At the end of the year a meeting is held in which "G.A.A." awards are given to girls earning them.

"Oh! The binder's loose on my ski again." The Sport Kats have a rough time, what with skiing, bowling, ice skating, and roller skating. Saturday morning the "Yawn Patrol" slips and slides down the dark streets to the Trailways Depot. All that—just to go to the mountains.

Girls who "crave" the great outdoors are members. They maintain that sports lighten the strain of school work.

Members are divided into two classes: the active members, called "Big Kats," who must participate in three or more sports regularly; and the associate members, called "Kitty Kats," who are to be working towards active membership.

The new club has had a tough climb to get started with no benefit of a tow rope, but next year they hope to be scooting right along on a smooth slope.

Shorthand . . . typing . . . hours and hours of work, study, and practice . . . the Commercial cherubs have experienced all this and more in order to be members of the club.

At the social gatherings throughout the year, different Eugene High alums returned and gave their helpful hints on how to succeed in the business world. In addition to these alums, other outside speakers were guests of the Commercial Club at their informal parties and potlucks.

Membership was open to all students enrolled in advanced commercial classes.

Library Staff

Imagine rushing into the library looking for one particular book and finding rows and rows of unfiled books. Fortunately the condition of our library is nothing like this. The library staff, under the direction of Mrs. Hjelte, spends its time industriously shelving books and locating that certain volume you need so desperately.

This, along with the other duties of the library staff, such as spraying with D.D.T. to discourage book worms, keeps the staff jumping throughout the year.

Ceemoh Club

The homemaking minded girls of Eugene High formed together this year under a new name, the Ceemoh Club. Membership was attained through taking at least one year of homemaking. An inspiring candle-lighting ceremony was held at the beginning of the year when the new members were initiated.

The loyal Axemen supporters were hailed in the fall when the Ceemohers were selling EHS pennants. Then when Christmas breezed in on wings of snow, the girls were making toys and cookies for a childrens home.

February came along and with spring a-p-p-r-o-a-c-h-i-n-g the thoughts of the boys were of sending flowers to their girls. Here the girls really scored in the heart department by operating a Valentine Flower Booth.

"Resolved . . . that the United Nations should now be revised into a Federal World Government." Undoubtedly you've heard the above statement more than once. Being in a debate class and being in the same building with a debate class are in many ways the same thing. The golden tongued "arguers" spread their enlightenment to their fellow students by bringing battles into class rooms throughout the school. The debate teams fought their way through the Linfield tournament at McMinnville, Willamette at Salem, and Pacific at Forest Grove. At all of these tournaments they came out victorious with high placing. "Watch that stance," briefs, little three by five cards, debate boxes, the jitters . . . all these are typical of that wonderful but hectic life of a debater.

International Relations League

Officers and advisors: D. Ijams, D. Neely, L. Finley, Mr. Dedman, Mr. Hendricks, Mrs. Wilmot, A. Karr.

These intellectuals around school banded together again this year under the title of the International Relations League.

Meetings were held twice a month. At these gatherings international problems were discussed. Probably one of the main reasons for heated argument was explained by the fact that there were a great many debators in the organization. Some of the larger problems were not solved and in general a dim view was taken of an early solution for other minor misunderstandings.

Earlier in the year, quite a few members attended the State I. R. L. Conference held on the U. of O. campus.

"Will the stag-line please move back!" came a voice, as the well worn, year-old record slowly came to a stop. This routine, along with that of signing up outside dates, will be remembered about those P.T.A. dances held after the football games.

If you listened closely, you could hear the praises given the football players for that nice block or that beautiful tackle. It was the time of glory for the players who had played and a time of gloom for those who had kept the bench warm. Just for a little variety you had the opportunity to dance, even though the records were old.

As you approached Miss Kitts standing at the front door, you wondered if you had your student body card. At the top of the stairs you were confronted by a committee member who made it necessary to dig into your pocket for one thin dime. If you could get past these people you were "in" and assured of a solid, be-bop, twice-in-a-row fine time.

"That last explosion knocked over the cage and Oscar got out and spilled the short stop." It's an unusual statement ot say the least. Maybe it needs a little explanation. The explosion was the result of NH^4NO^3 decomposing into N^2 plus O^2 plus H^2O. Oscar is a eutamias ameonus amenones and short stop is $HC^2H^3O^2$. The above quotation and the action which it indicates are typical of a meeting of the Science Club.

The Club is an affiliate of Science Clubs of America and the Oregon Academy of Science. The monthly meetings generally consist of scientific demonstrations put on by one of the interest field divisions and now and then a lecture by an invited speaker, who explains how to make WH^4NO^3 or catch an eutamias ameonus ameones.

"Hi-Y meeting tonight—7:30, at the Community Center" was the familiar announcement heard every Monday, fourth and sixth periods.

If you happened by chance to drop by the YMCA around 7:30 on Monday nights, you might have seen President Gene Early call the meeting to order; Don McKinstry, secretary, call roll and read the minutes; and Howard Myers, chaplain, led a short devotional service. service.

The business at one of these meetings might have been the selection of the two representatives to the "Youth in Model Legislature" at Salem. The representatives this year were Warren Moell and Burt Carlson. At a different time the business might have been the appointment of Navarre Davis as chairman of the Mothers' Day Breakfast.

Programs were arranged by Burt Carlson and usually featured a speaker or a "red hot" discussion on some subject that involved everyone. Advisor Paul Potter usually had his "two-bits" worth to add.

If you were interested in joining the club, you met with Gene Harrison, vice-president and membership chairman. After you were a member, dues were paid to George Boehnke, treasurer.

At the end of the meeting the members repeated the purpose of the Hi-Y, which is "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community—high standards of Christian Character"; this was followed by the Lord's Prayer.

The Ambassadors is a Christian organization whose purpose is the furtherance of Christian fellowship and forwarding high ideals among high school students. The weekly get-togethers are at noon on Thursdays and are a combination of resting, lunch sacks, and mumbling voices drowning out the voice of the president or an invited speaker. You can probably imagine the scrambled atmosphere with about sixty members trying to divide their attention between the speaker and a ham sandwich, maybe even with mustard.

During the year, the Ambassadors sponsored a formal banquet on the night of the Junior Senior Prom and the annual Ambassadors' assembly. This year the Club harmoniously combined music and comedy to present an outstanding show.

All students are welcome to attend meetings or join the Club, regardless of their church affiliation.

Did you ever bother to look around you at any of the athletic events? Nine times out of ten the most hard working individuals would be members of the Service Club.

While everyone else cheered the team, these poor souls were punching student body cards, selling tickets, or ushering.

The Club was used for the public's benefit when voters pamphlets were distributed. Everybody who delivered these pamphlets will remember the slight drizzle that did so much for morale and shoes.

When the band put on its big drive for new uniforms the Service Club was right there to assist in selling the Band Booster Buttons. They certainly looked the part of a loyal E.H.S. student, their sweaters were white and their skins were purple from the cold.

It's not all such grueling work though. At Christmas time the Club decorated the big tree in the front hall and went on a caroling hay ride, which was topped off by a dance.

A brand new feature next fall will be the football directory. The Service Club is going to publish a booklet with all football records from the past and the starting line-up for next fall.

All in all the Club has had a very successful year under the leadership of Bob Bureker, President; Audrey Hodgin, Vice-president; and Naomi Morgan, Secretary.

Boys interested in broken backs and sprained ankles found golden opportunities in the Pack Rats. In the winter, the boys used up all their power on snow trips and skiing. Mountain climbing took up their extra week-ends when the last traces of winter had melted away.

The Ski Club is that daring group of outdoor enthusiasts who spend their free time matching intelligence and brawn against those tiny delicate snowflakes.

The club rents a ski bus on Saturdays, while the snow is good, and moves to the high altitudes. In the frigid atmosphere they proceed to tangle with any snowbank that appears on the horizon. It doesn't matter if they tackle it with a "plop" or a "swoosh", it's all fun for the Ski Club.

IN MEMORIAM

It's hard to put into this space all we feel about Dave Gilbert. He was more than just a swell guy. He was more than a good athlete. When Dave was drowned at Corvallis in May of 1948, we lost not only this year's football co-captain, but a real friend. His athletic record speaks for itself. At the time of his death, he was representing Eugene High in the one hundred yard dash at the state track meet. Besides his position on the football team, he was also an outstanding member of the baseball squad. Dave will be remembered by his friends.

FOOTBALL

Theoretically at least, Eugene High had a successful football season, winning as many games as they lost, but no staunch EHS supporter can consider any season successful without victories over Uni High and Salem, or at least one of them. But "the Axe" fell before both by identical 13-7 scores. Little consolation is gained through the fact that we outgained the opposition in both games, for the number of times you pass that last little white chalk line is what pays off.

Well, it's only over by six inches!

As for the seasons highlights—the one that will be remembered longest has to do with only one player, Jack Parsons. Jack was selected as one of the best ends in the state and was chosen to play on the up-state all stars against the Portland all stars come August. The seasons most exciting moment—the Axemen trailing the Corvallis Spartans 14-13 with seconds to play, tried a long desperation pass only to have it intercepted; but the interceptor fumbled as he started to run, and Eugene recovered. Two plays later, the Axe had a six point, 20-14, lead; and the game ended. The season's disappointment—the season.

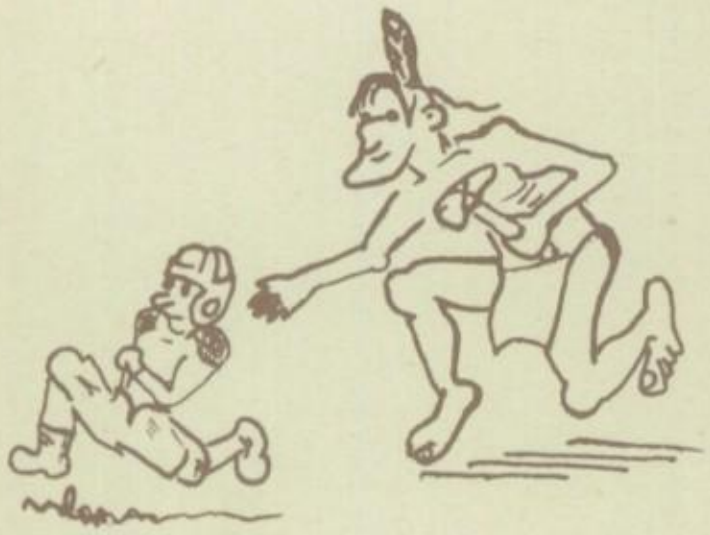
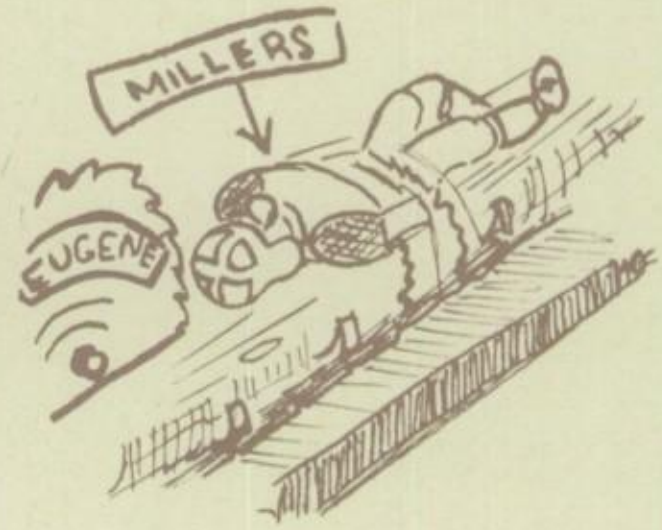
A surprising strong Gael eleven from St. Mary's held an overconfident Axemen team to a 6-6 tie at the end of the first half, but Kuchera's famous ability as an orator set the boys on fire in final frame and they romped to an easy 19-6 win. The Eugene forward wall outcharged the smaller Gael line continuously in the second half, throwing passer Krasnaske for repeated losses.



Ouch! Maybe they hadn't read about our undefeated, untied record. Anyway the Cleveland (formerly Commerce) Indians went on the warpath and dumped the not-so-mighty Axemen on their proverbial ear as they gained one of their two 1948 wins to the tune of 26-6. The first play of the game established the trend of what was to come later on as Gene Traglio, of the big city boys, boomed 60 yards through the center of the line to pay-dirt for a lasting lead.

With last week's massacre all forgotten about and only thoughts of revenge for last year's defeat, the Axemen pulled up from behind and finished the game on top of a fired-up Springfield aggregation for the second win of the yet young season. The glitter of this 20-6 victory became somewhat dimmed as the weeks slipped by due to the impotency of the Millers and their ability to win but one game all year, that against St. Mary's

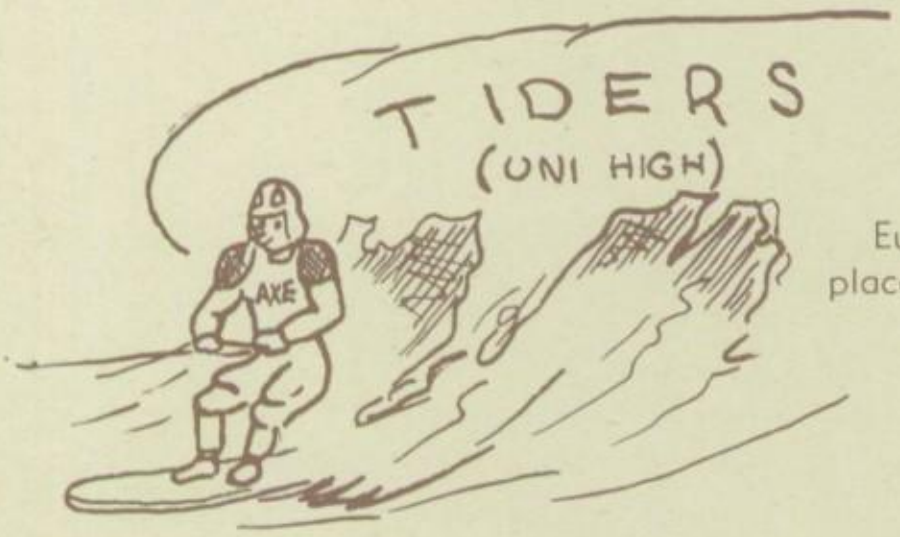


My, but those Bears have a bite. A bunch of big bruisers, paced by even bigger Phil Gillis, came across them thar hills and methodically battered Eugene into submission. The Bears went home carrying the laurels of an 18-8 victory over one of the big "valley" schools. There was no humiliation in the defeat though, because Bend proved itself to be one of the better schools in the state—just missing a state play-off berth by one point.

A steamed-up wrecking crew from EHS played havoc on a Central Catholic eleven which entered the quarter-finals of the state championship tourney. The Axemen seemed to be thinking only of a way to get back at Portland for the Commerce defeat as they broke out in a rash of touchdowns for a 26-6 win. This game showed Eugene at their season's best with the whole team playing top-flight ball.

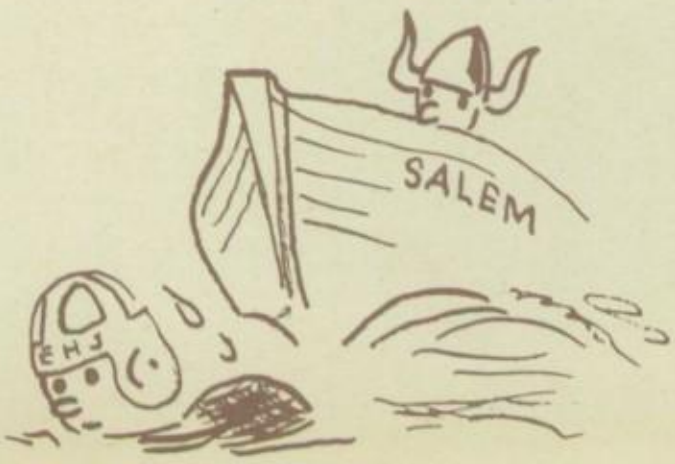
What a game! This is probably the first time in the annals of football history that a team scored the winning touchdown on an intercepted pass by the opposing team. Here's the situation: The score, 14-13 in favor of Corvallis and just two minutes to play; Eugene's ball on the Spartan's 45 yard line; a long pass—but Ken Wilson intercepts on his own eight—what a spot to go 92 yards for the clincher! However, as he started to run, the ball slipped from his hands and Eugene recovered, went over for the TD, and trouped off the field with a 20-14 triumph.

For the first out-of-town game, the Axemen journeyed to Albany to play a heretofore undefeated Bulldog eleven. It looked in the first half as if Eugene might turn the trick and upset the dope-bucket with a win; but in the second frame, class proved itself as Albany kept its record intact with a 21-6 victory. Their only loss was at the hands of the state champions, Grants Pass, in the playoffs.



Eugene 7—Uni High 13. When is this consolidation taking place?

The Axemen bounced back, after the previous week's humiliation to humble a strong Pirate eleven from Marshfield 13-7 and jump back into the lead in their own little struggle to keep the wins ahead of the losses for the season. Eugene, in this game, had one of their better nights and appeared to be on a come back road, but——



In the season's finale, Eugene, for the first time since Kuchera took over the reins, was dumped by the Salem High Vikings. The game started out like it might turn into a rout, the Viks jumping off to a quick 13-0 lead and holding at the half. But the Axemen bounced back, completely outclassing the ancient rivals in the second stanza, only to fall short of victory by a single touchdown, losing 13-7.

Those football B-squaders might aptly be termed as the original hard luck kids. Mellem's ranks would seemingly have a ball game in the bag, only to have the opposition pull it out of the fire with a last second touchdown. At Salem, with the Hatchetmen leading 12-7, and just one minute remaining, a Viking got loose and romped all the way for a 13-12 victory.

It was the same story at Cottage Grove against the second-stringers, only this time with just 30 seconds left to play. The final on that game was 19-18. Against Springfield Millermites, almost as the gun sounded to end the game, the Eugene lads watched one of the small towners score the lone touchdown for a 6-0 win. Also there was a 7-6 loss at Albany. But on the other side came one overwhelming victory! a 28-0 conquest of Corvallis.

Although the basketball season for the second straight year wasn't quite as successful as we had hoped for, the gang looked great all the way. Until last year Eugene High, along with Salem and Astoria, were rated as perennial powers at the state tournament. However, on March 15, the Oregon prep tourney began without the presence of the mighty Axemen. But Eugene has nothing to be ashamed of, with the representative of this district, Junction City, placing fourth in the state! The Axemen split their two games with the Tigers, winning the first 30-27; but dropping the second with the chips down at Junction. Cottage Grove proved to be the jinx of the season, dropping the Kuchera-coached quintet on their home grounds, 42-34, and then taking another in an overtime game at the court, 28-27.

Jack Parsons was the "big gun" in the EHS attack, leading the seasons point parade. The whole Eugene forward wall deserves a lot of credit for its work under the boards all season. The Axemen, with the state's third tallest team, had pretty much their own way in many of the games, but their inability to hit the bucket proved to be their downfall.

Even with half the team graduating, next year should be a big one for Eugene High, with a lot of good boys up from the B-squad along with the "A" holdovers.

Just as a little sidelight, every year Kuchera has practiced in the armory he's gone to the state tournament; but each year that he's practiced in the cracker box at EHS, his team has been in the rooting section at the tournament.

Another Two Points

Big Six play proved to be even less successful as Corvallis, Salem, and Bend all took the Axe in stride, coming out with two victories apiece. Salem and Bend both were entrants at the state tournament and both did all right for themselves; Bend finishing in third spot, and Salem fifth. The only other Big-Sixer Corvallis was able to defeat was Albany.

On the other side of the ledger, the Axemen picked up two wins over Springfield and the same number at the expense of the Albany Bulldogs.

As for individual honors; both Parsons, Dean and Jack, were placed on the second string all-star team.

In non-league games the Axemen started out as if they might go a long way. Although they lost their first two games, the defeats came at the hands of a talented Marshfield-five that was already in midseason form. Neither game was lost by more than three points. Then came a four team jamboree at Ashland, between Cottage Grove, Eugene, Ashland, and the S.O.C.E. frosh. The Axemen opened the proceedings by dropping the frosh, and the next night closed it up as they trounced Ashland to be the only team not to lose there. The next week, a two-game series at Klamath Falls found Eugene High with two more defeats tacked onto their record, one of them in an overtime affair.

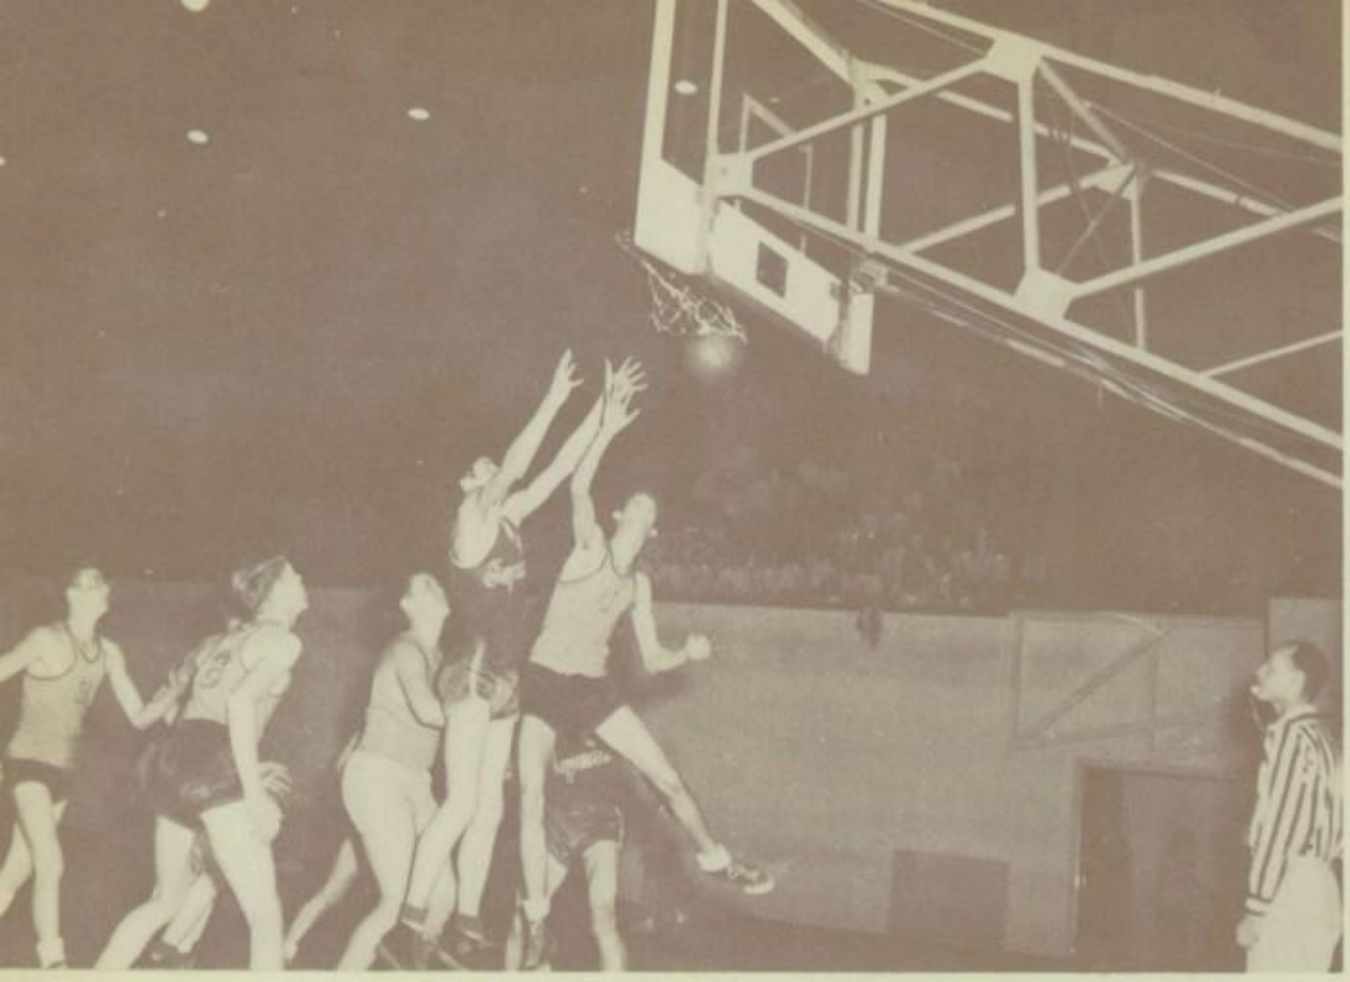
Remember the good old days at the Armory!

Play Ball!

District play found the Axemen at their season's best, but that was not quite good enough. Along with the aforementioned Springfield wins, Eugene took two from St. Mary's, two from Elmira, a singleton from Junction City . . . and . . . Hip Hip Hooray! Two from Uni High to get at least partial revenge for what happened earlier in the year! But in the three "big games" of district competition, the mighty Axe just couldn't quite make it. Cottage Grove, the only team we didn't beat at least once, made the difference between a great and merely a good EHS basketball squad. And in the last big one—against Junction City—the breaks went the wrong way, and the Axemen had to settle with a second place tie with Cottage Grove.

A tense moment—but it's in!

The State Tournament starts without us.



B - SQUAD

It's through for two!

The most successful team at Eugene High this year was the B-squad basketball team—commonly called the Hatchetmen. This aggregation had an enviable record of 17 wins and 3 losses. With only four juniors on the squad and the rest just sophomores, Eugene High supporters have a lot to look forward to in the next two years.

Two of the three defeats came at the hands of an always powerful Salem B-team and at Albany an old jinx held on as the Bullpups downed the baby Axemen.

No district team was able to come out on top in any encounter with our B-squad and we are all expecting much of them next year when they graduate to the varsity.

RALLY

When football came to a close, MacArthur Court and the Eugene High School gym furnished the scene for their enthusiasm and spills. Basketball season was accompanied by a huge laundry bill to solve the cleaning of their white culottes.

Throughout the year they were "tops" in spirit. The students of Eugene High will remember for a long time the friendly atmosphere they created with their songs and yells.

If pep awards were given, this year's winners would be the ten bundles of energy commonly called our rally squad and yell leaders.

During the summer, they struggled through hours of practice and drill. When football season began, they could always be seen at the Civic Stadium jumping around in knee-deep mud. Everyone's spirits were dampened at times, but the rally squad kept theirs powder dry!

BAND

"If you can't make the music good at least make it loud." This is the motto of every band, and our band is no exception. After all, the job of the band is not to please the music critics, but rather to instill the fighting spirit into the E. H. S. student body and athletic teams.

To be a member of the band you must not only know how to toot a horn or beat a drum, but you should learn the technique of struggling through mud over your ankles. And to be safe know how to swim. The above statements are self explanatory if you've seen many football games at the civic stadium.

Being a member of the band is hard on the uniforms as well as the feet. Therefore, the band spent a good part of its time this year raising money for new uniforms. Such things as "Band Booster Day" and the swing concert raised the funds. Now the band is dazzling as well as loud.

OPHOMORES

Dean Parsons, President; John MacKinnon, Vice-president; Shirley Jeske, Secretary; Lynn Johnson, Treasurer.

The first day of school, one could easily tell the sophomores from the juniors and seniors by that slight look of dismay in their wandering eyes. But, as time went on, our little innocents gradually fell into the pattern of life at Eugene High, and even cut a few patterns of their own. The sophomores soon elected officers and grasped the idea of organization through the efforts of a powerful political machine, the R. S. V. P. or the Roundup of Sophomores' Venerable Professors. This big political combine is made up of all sophomore teachers, and is represented in its "above ground" activities by Boss Dedman and Boss Wormington, each with the title of class advisor. In case you didn't know, in Mr. Dedman's desk is hidden a direct wire to Washington.

Disregarding all subversive influences, the sophomores elected a pack of sterling characters as class officers. The results were: President, Dean Parsons; Vice-president, John MacKinnon; Secretary, Shirley Jeske; and Treasurer, Lynn Johnson.

Following the guiding hand of the conniving R. S. V. P., the sophomores succeeded in producing a sophomore party, an assembly, and the sophomore dance in the spring for the ninth graders. They set up a sophomore executive council in subtle opposition to the R. S. V. P., and the two fought it out for the control of District '51.

The class really got down to business at Christmas time. They collected over 1,500 cans of food which they gave to the Red Cross as a Christmas present. These accomplishments of the class of '51 reveal a resolute spirit of mind, hand, and heart which promise to carry them to great heights.

UNIORS

President, Roger Nichols; Vice-president, Anita Hamilton; Secretary, Donna Hart; Treasurer, Carol May.

The class of '50 has really worked hard to make their middle year as much fun as possible. Not as green as last year, but they still tip-toe around waiting to acquire a locker in the hall called "Senior Row."

The class has worked out a wonderful activity program. With the help of the advisors, Miss Bessie Kamarad and Mr. Lyle Small, the class started a brand new plan of organization. Class representatives meet and take the problems to their English Classes.

Donna Wilcox and her committee, Navarre Davis, Barbara Lengacher, Mike Keating, and Dee Wilson, presented a "smash hit" assembly, "The Follies of the Fifties"—complete with can-can.

The Junior-Senior Prom came along; the date was May 20th. The theme, "Carousel," was bright and springy. The prom committee built a miniature merry-go-round with its top striped red and white in senior colors. The tiny wooden horses were brightly painted. The dance was held in the ballroom of the Veteran's Memorial Building and it was really a huge success.

The prom committee's chairman was Shirley Yearwood and working with her were Joan Gustafson, who took care of the programs; Paul Barkla, in charge of refreshments; Don Neeley, entertainment; Billie Harnden, publicity, and Gayle Abbott, decorations.

To pass from pleasure to studies, the required classes for Juniors are U. S. History, Junior English, health, and gym. Electives that juniors liked to tackle come under the headings of music, art, languages, and commercial courses. We will all remember in some way or other, Dan Hamlow's driving classes and that sturdy "Dual-Control" car!

A round-up of the current talent seems like a good way to herd the class into next year. Joan Gustafson's brand of comedy was a real treat, and Don Neeley's songs and Yvonne Reed's and Larry Maves' music added that extra something to assemblies. Then, of course, there was Floyd Wilkes with his "Big Bass Viol." Special leadership talent belonged to the class officers. They were: Roger Nichols, President; Anita Hamilton, Vice-president; Donna Hart, Secretary; and Carol May, Treasurer.

Senior Class

Seniors . . . seniors . . . many days the senior editor has wished there were no such creatures. No one could guess how many excuses they can think up for not having their pictures taken at the right time at the right place. But at last every picture has been taken and mounted! With a whirlwind of pink and blue activity slips, the senior section finally developed. Here it is! It's yours.

As sophomores, romping through classes and activities, the '49ers showed amazing ability and adaptability in adjusting to high school life.

In the junior year, the seniors of '48 were in grave danger of being outshone by the presumptuous underclassmen.

But the full glory of seniorhood was ours this year. We have left our marks—not only on the history of the school, but on its walls, desks, and lockers.

Now turn this page and you will see the shining glory (?!) of Eugene High School, the class of '49.

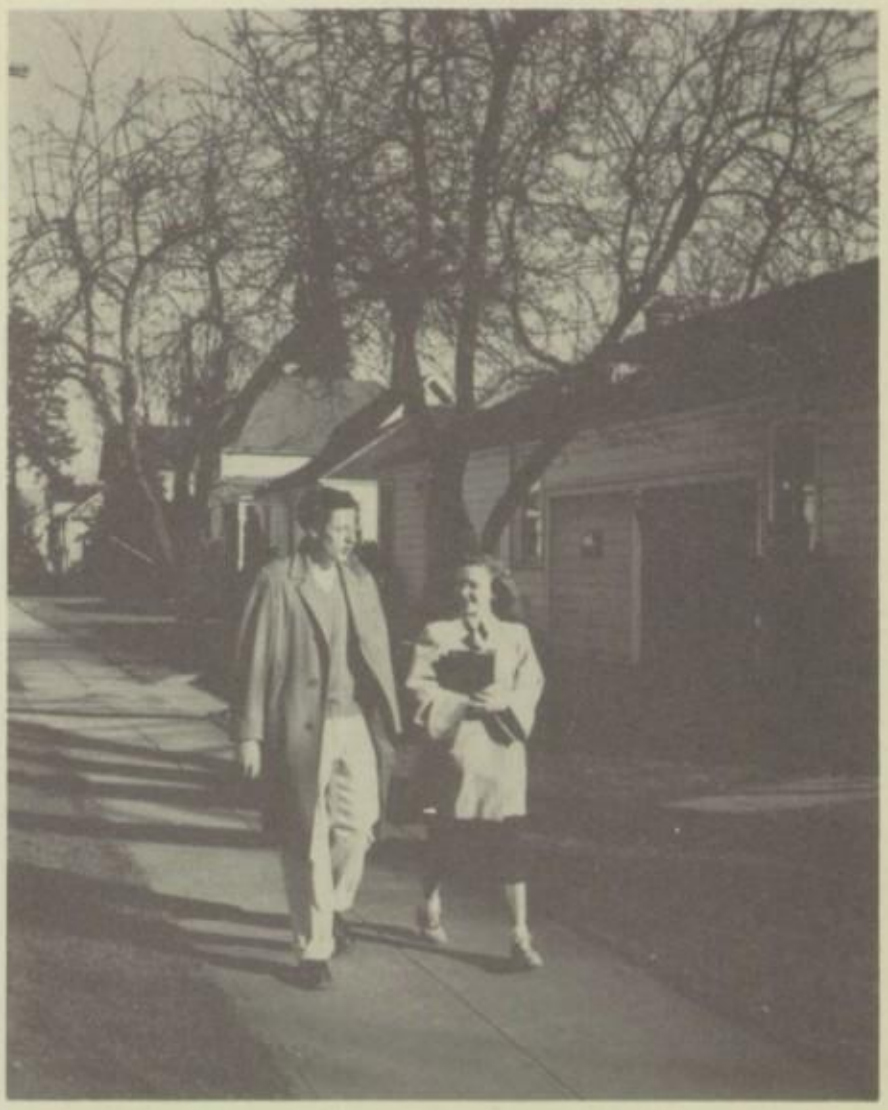
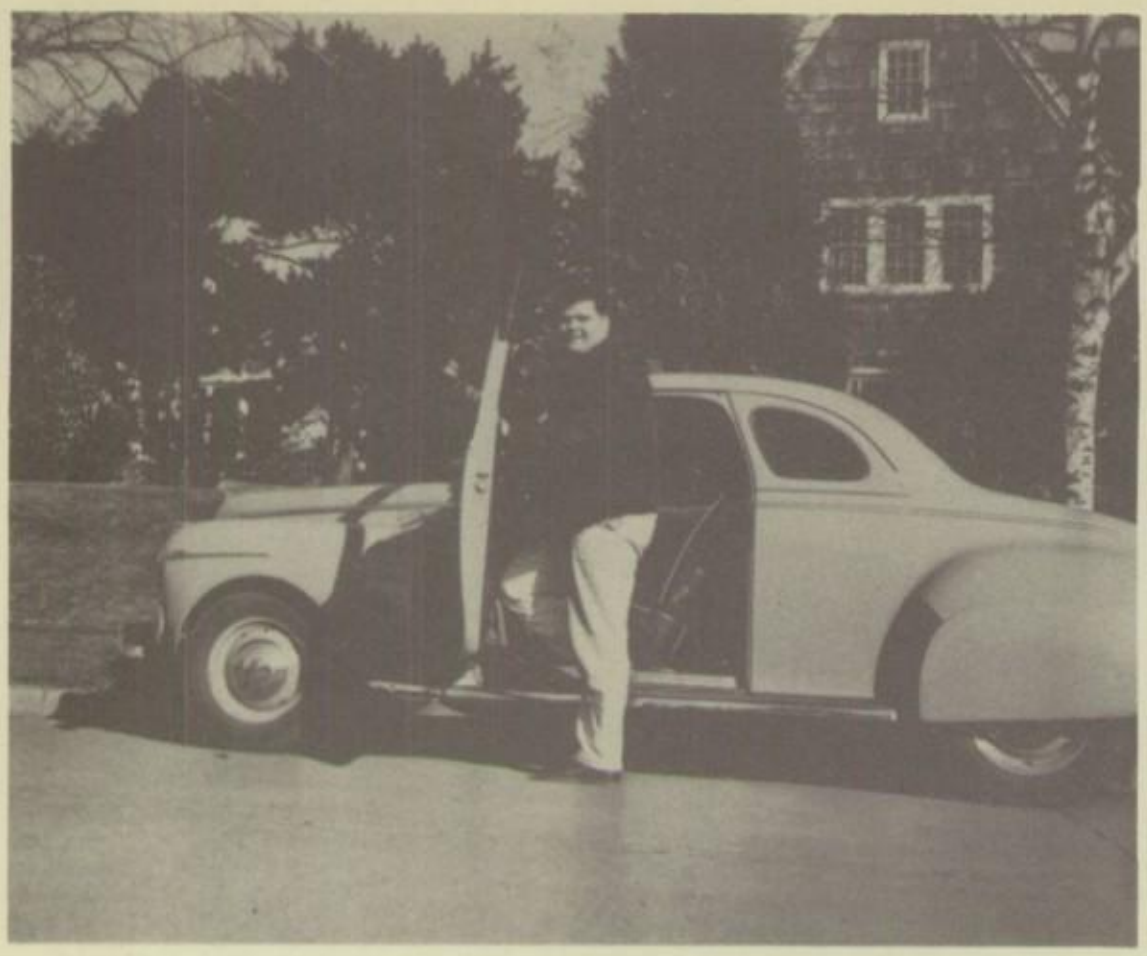
To polish or not to polish our Spaldings—some question! Marilee Williams, our student body secretary, reminds us that sweaters and skirts, and casual dresses, went to classes.

Just sportin' around with Jack Parsons and Jackie Lewis. Jackie displays her athletic ability at ice skating, skiing, tennis, and rally squad. Jack is our sports boy when it comes to basketball, football, and track.

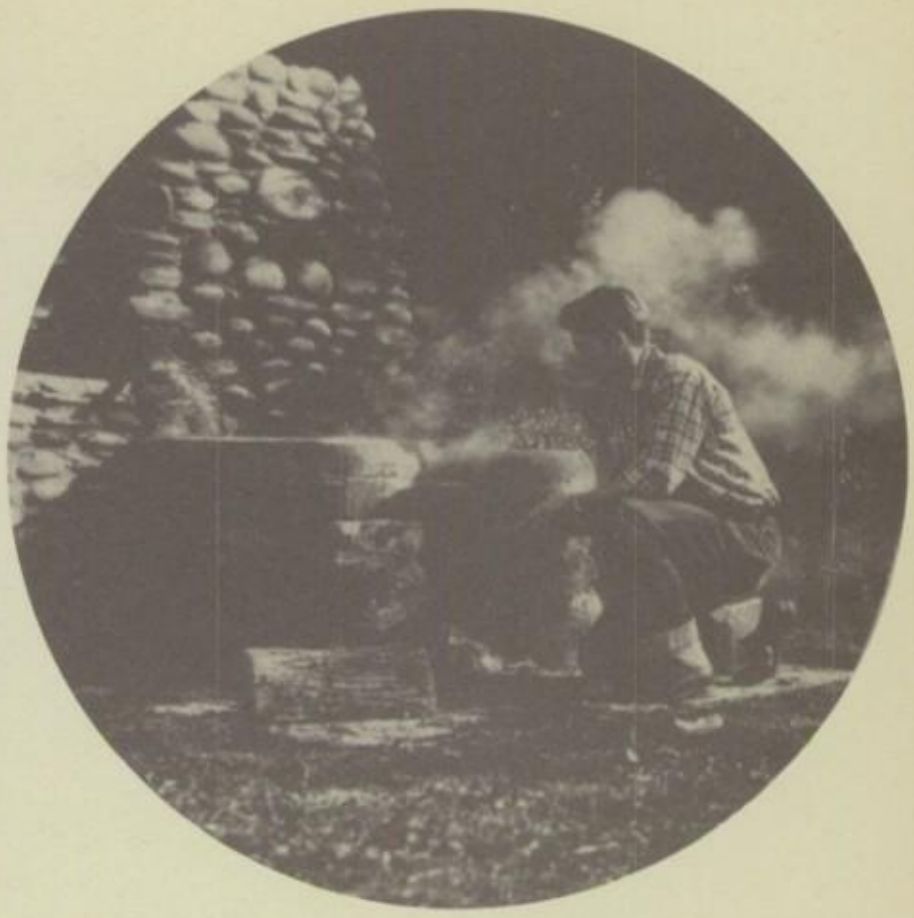
The "new length" accentuates Myrna Carroll's popular opera pumps. Gene Early wears a bright knit tie ('Windsor knotted'), polished boomer shoes, and a glen plaid suit—sooo—smooth.



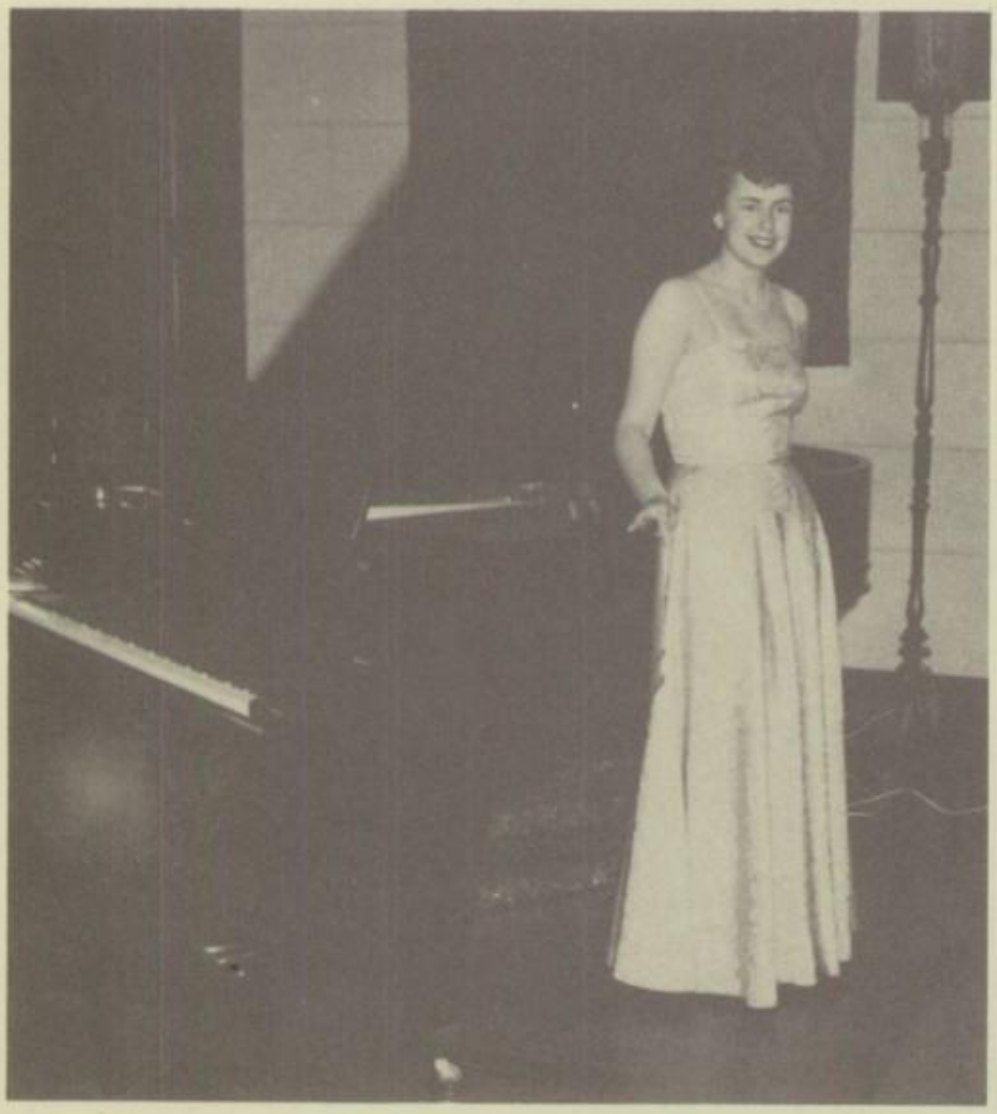
Our student body officers, Bernice Dodge and Phil Newman, have to be pretty dependable. They are prepared for the rain here, something we can all depend upon!



Wee Will Hoey without the usual mob in his Plymouth! Pegged cords, Navy work jackets, argyle socks, glamour glasses; all a part of school.

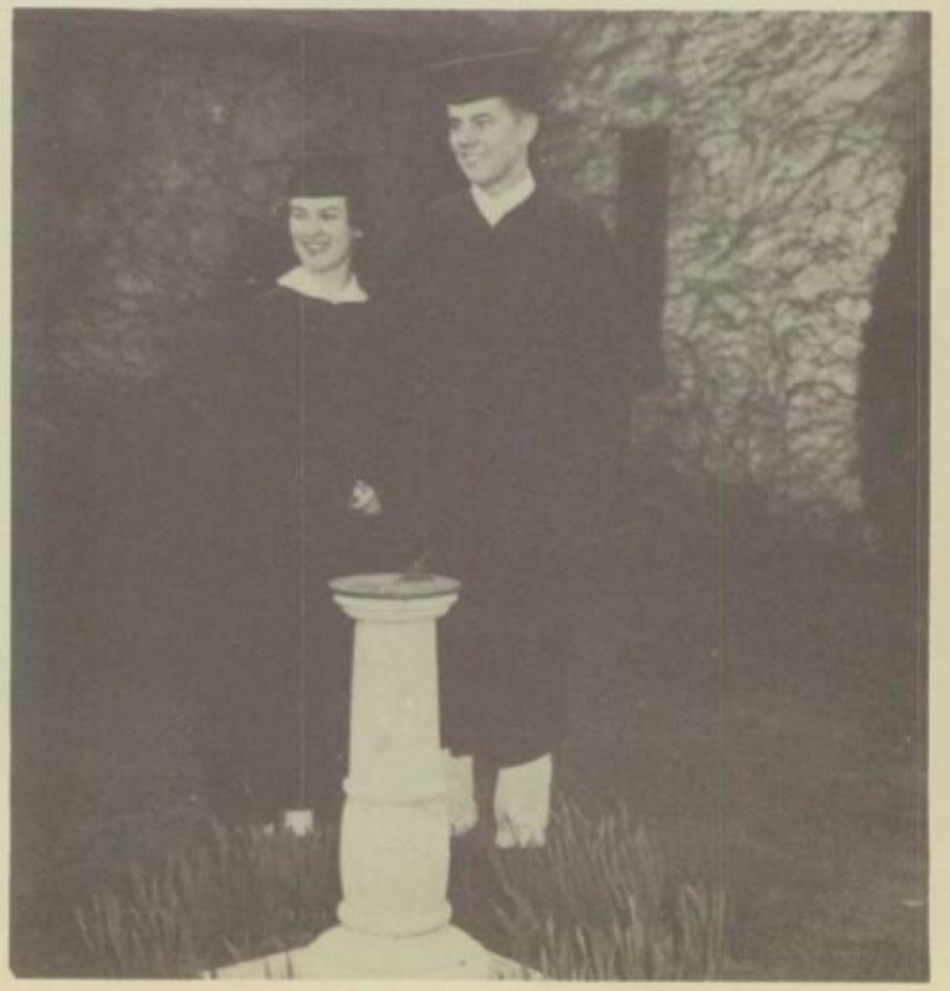


Jeans and plaid shirts were worn for roughing it; picnics, hay rides, overnight trips. Axemen's council prexy, Burt Carlson, shows us in three easy lessons how to be a boy scout.



At our formal dances we saw many strapless evening gowns. The mood was perfect, lights were low, and maybe Janis Evans would sing a soothing melody.

Lois Taylor and Rex Griffith model the best fashion of the year—their caps and gowns. Fifty years from now, "Did you really dress like that?"



The Activities Went On All Through the Year . . .

Rules for the "ALL AMERICAN" Driver

1. Be alert: anticipate traffic hazards.
2. Check your equipment: brakes, lights, horns, windshield swipe, and rear-view mirror.
3. You are playing on a great team:
   "The Grim Reaper" is the referee.
4. Know the Rules:
   (a) Never overdrive your lights.
   (b) Never pass on a hill or curve.
   (c) Give proper hand signals.
   (d) Make your turn from the proper lane.
   (e) Keep your car under control—speed is a killer.
   (f) Know and observe your traffic laws.
5. The "All American" is considerate of the rights of others. Extend the courtesy shown in your home to the other motorists on the street.

KEITH L. JONES, Chief of Police.

Have you ever stopped to think how valuable high school is to you? You probably don't believe it now, but in later life as you look back . . . perhaps in this annual . . . you will remember all the fun and the friends you have had.

High school is really an essential to go into almost any kind of business. Of course, if you are planning to go on to college, you know that you could never even think of it if you weren't going to high school now. What if you had quit school in the eighth grade?

What with all of the wonderful friendships you've made, fun you've had, and education you've acquired, aren't you glad you've been a student at Eugene High?
